

Dear University Library,

Just a short note to tell you how much you mean to me. I don't think I've even met a library that just gets me the way you do. And, I can't believe we might never have met if I hadn't taken a shortcut through your halls to catch that bus!

Yeah, I may have been playing it cool, but I was checking you out; and I liked what I saw. And the more often I came back, the more there was that made me never want to leave.

I mean, you have it all! Journal articles, databases! Remember that time I forgot my phone charger and you let me borrow one from your loanable technology desk? It's like you know me better than I know myself.

I know I'm going to be graduating in May, and that's caused some distance and confusion in our relationship, but I have a surprise for you. I'm staying to get my Master's degree!

I just can't quit you!

Love,

Kaleb
